Working with Clay

As one of the world's oldest art forms, clay continues to satisfy new and seasoned artists. After some practice and warm-up games, participants will have time to begin and finish a piece that can be later painted at home after drying. No prior experience needed - come ready to get dirty!

This 2-hour workshop will focus on Burning Bush, also known as "Winged Euonymus." A commonly used non-native landscape plant, Burning Bush has escaped into our woodlands and is choking out valuable native shrubs and wildflowers. It's easiest to see in autumn when its rosy-red leaves are most obvious.

Wear sturdy shoes, bring work gloves and pruners if you have them, and be prepared to be a Park Partner as Doylestown Township continues its long-standing responsible environmental stewardship. Registration is desired to help with planning but it is not required.
